

The Rhode Island Nurses Institute (RINI) is the 501(c)3 foundation of the Rhode Island State Nurses Association, our state's professional nursing organization. RINI raises funds and develops and manages grants for the following:

- To advance knowledge of the nursing profession.
- To assist nurses in need.
- To encourage nursing research and career development.
- To develop financial resources for relevant research.

RINI has embarked on a visionary campaign to address the critical nursing shortage by helping to keep nurses working in patient care settings, recruiting and educating a new generation of young men and women to be the nurses of the future, and continuing to promote the nursing profession as the primary advocate for patients and their families. Supporting patient safety initiatives remain a RINI priority.
